

Professor Igor E. Konstantinov, MD, PhD, FRACS is Consultant Cardiothoracic Surgeon at the Royal Children's Hospital in Melbourne, Australia. He is Professor at the University of Melbourne and Director of Melbourne Centre for Cardiovascular Genomics and Regenerative Medicine. Dr. Konstantinov graduated from the Military Medical Academy in St. Petersburg, Russia in 1992 and obtained his PhD from the University of Toronto in Toronto, Canada in 2004. He has published 427 peer-reviewed articles and several book chapters. Dr. Konstantinov is a member of the American Association for Thoracic Surgery, a Feature Editor of the Journal of Thoracic and Cardiovascular Surgery and an Associate Editor of the Operative Techniques in Thoracic and Cardiovascular Surgery.